Venezuela Bids for Aid Against Europe.

CASTRO IN INTERVIEW

DECLARES THE REVOLUTION ON ITS LAST LEGS.

Promises to Reorganize the Fiscal System and Establish the Nation's Credit.

CARACAS, Venezuela, Saturday, November 22.—President Castro, in an interview today said:

"The revolution received its death blow at La Victoria. In spite of superior numbers the rebels were defeated and their principal leader was compelled to seek refuge in a foreign land. The remnants of his forces under arms are unable to support each other and are being closely pursued. I receive news daily of the disintegration of Matos' followers.

"A campaign has been inaugurated against Barcelona and Ciudad Bolivar by a strong and seasoned army, which assures its success.

"The battle of La Victoria was responsible for this satisfactory situation. It was the most stubbornly contested combat of my career. By the 1st of January I am confident I shall be able to officially proclaim peace. I cannot imagine that Matos will continue the revolution. Whatever effort he may make will be futile, and as a man of intelligence he must recognize that the sentiment of the people is against him and for peace. He cannot command today. The friends of Matos appreciate that his purse strings were loosened only by great effort and that he is not likely to spend more money on the movement.

Government Will Be Magnanimous.

"The government is resolved to execute in spirit and to the letter its declarations contained in the proclamation of November 3, and to be liberal and magnanimous to its opponents, and the latter can have no reason to refuse it their loyal assistance. The policy of the government is broad and comprehensive. Its aims are prosperity and contentment. In order that the achievement of these aims may be more promptly and efficaciously reached the support of all citizens, whatever their political conduct or political views, will be welcomed heartily as being laborers for the nation's welfare. The government is disposed to forget the past and look forward to the future, which is bright with promise of peace and national and individual benefits and their accompaniments.

"Following the declaration of peace the government will discharge its just obligations and improve its credit and reorganize the fiscal system of the country. Every effort will be made to attract foreign capital, which is needed to exploit the rich agricultural, commercial and industrial resources of Venezuela. The trust that the United States will participate in this exploitation. There will be ample guarantees for the security of funds invested.

Friendship for United States.

"Venezuela entertains cordial and sympathetic feelings for the United States and desires the closest relations with the United States, which has already signally opposed the aggression of foreign powers. The government is confident that, convinced of the justice of our cause, the United States will render Venezuela assistance in her future difficulties. Well supported and well armed, the Monroe doctrine is of the greatest possible importance and value. The motto of the United States should be accepted by the Pan-American nations, which should be bound in indissoluble ties of comity and friendship. Questions with European governments can be settled amicably if they have the same desire for friendly relations. We, the Venezuelans, united in sentiment and well armed, form a force which will tenaciously resist any attempt to infringe our sovereignty or invade our territory.

"With respect to Colombia, the government of Venezuela is advised that there has been another invasion of our territory for the seventh time in three years. It is our earnest desire to have peace with Colombia and we are prepared to arrange for a settlement when peace is declared and the courts resume their functions.

"The government will not interfere in the affairs of other similar cases. They will be settled in the light of the law and according to the facts.

Venezuela will participate in the St. Louis exposition.

HIGH PRICES PREVAIL.

Dealers Quote Poultry at Fancy Figures.

"Turkeys are out of sight," remarked a local poultry dealer to a Star reporter this morning. "The market is higher than it has been at the Thanksgiving season for a number of years."

Dealers say that the fowls are high for the double reason that they are scarce and the weather conditions are such that country people are afraid to kill them in any great numbers. Nearby poultry raisers will supply a large part of the demand this season, as they are able to get their stock to market in good condition.

It is stated that people in Virginia who raise poultry have nothing like the number of turkeys this year that they usually have. Several weeks ago shippers from New York and Philadelphia were seen in the neighborhood stores purchasing fowls, and they paid fairly good prices for all the turkeys they could get. Drawn fowls brought 18 and 20 cents, while those dressed but not drawn sold for 15 and 16 cents. The dealers expect an additional advance of 10 cents, and it is thought that they do not expect them in quantities sufficient to reduce the price.

The meat market was about the same this morning as it was for a week or more, except that there was a slight advance in the price of pork. Beef, the dealers say, is cheaper than it has been since January, when the big increase had been announced. Choice porterhouse steaks are selling at 20 cents, while rib roasts are bringing from 12 to 18 cents a pound. In some instances dealers are selling at prices lower than those quoted.

Said Dog Didn't Belong to Him.

A dog which was not provided with a tag was the cause of the arrest and conviction in the Police Court today of Henry Smith, colored, who will be compelled to remain at the workhouse for 300 hours unless the tax of $5, which Judge Bundy levied, is paid.

A policeman testified that the neighbors in Smith's vicinity complained that he was the owner of a barking dog which disturbed their rest at night, and as a result of an inquiry it was learned that no license had been issued for the canine.

Smith, the officer said, was notified to appear in court yesterday, which he failed to do and was taken into custody last night.

"I don't know," Smith declared when called on for an explanation. "I don't know who the animal belong to?" his honor inquired.

"I don't know," the man answered, "but it did belong to a man who moved away from the house about two months ago, leaving the dog there, and it just hangs around."

The court held that Smith was responsible, and acted accordingly.

CUBA'S FRIENDSHIP DEEP.

Statement of Gen. Nunez, Governor of Havana Province.

Gen. Emilio Nunez, governor of the province of Havana, Cuba, is in Washington for the purpose of rest and recuperation, and to obtain some relief from the trouble which he has been suffering during the last three or four months. In an interview he said:

"With the blessing of unalterable peace Cuba is daily regaining the prosperity lost by the war, and I have no doubt that the republic will overcome all the obstacles and difficulties that might oppose its consolidation. The public sentiment in Cuba toward the United States has not changed. Our deep and sincere friendship toward this country continues to exist, and it cannot be otherwise, as there has been no reason that could have caused a change to come about in the relations between Cuba and the United States. The relations between the two countries are close and cordial. In fine, Cuba can never forget all she owes to the United States, and I am sure that the immense majority of its people hope that our friendly and commercial relations will daily grow closer, although this does not mean that there is any weakening in the sentiment for independence that drove us to war, and which is today the highest ideal of our people."

NIGHTMARE FATAL, PERHAPS.

Timothy Kelly of Philadelphia Was Probably Frightened to Death.

A special to the New York Times from Philadelphia yesterday says: Nightmare is believed by his friends to have been the cause of the death today of Timothy Kelly, thirty-three years old, who was found dead in bed in his boarding house at 2812 East Norris street.

Kelly was employed for years in Cramps' employ. He had been a boarder in almost every lodging house in the district, which he had been forced to leave by his dream foe. When a child, Kelly said he was a victim to almost regular attacks of what is commonly known as nightmare. As he grew older the dreams became less frequent but more horrible. When he was found lying dead across his bed early this morning, his fellow-lodgers concluded that he had at last been overtaken by the dream foe.

An autopsy has been ordered by the coroner.

West End White Ribboners.

The members of the West End Auxiliary, Woman's Christian Temperance Union, were the guests last evening of Mrs. Aaron Taylor, 1200 21st street. The business session was in charge of the president, Mrs. Ruth M. G. Pealer. Devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Clinton Smith. The secretaries, Mrs. Irwin and Mrs. Carrie Fernandez, and the treasurer, Mrs. Noerr, made reports.

Miss Beattie Taylor read a letter from Mrs. William Taylor, a member of West End Union, giving a description of her travels in Europe and the Orient. Miss Pettigrew found temperance conditions in England much below par, she said, as compared with conditions in this country. Especially to be deplored is the increase of intemperance among women.

Committee were appointed to arrange for a public meeting to be held in the parlors of the Union M. E. Church the evening of December 10. Mrs. Helen D. Harford of the National W. C. T. U. of corps of lecturers will deliver the address.

At the close of the business session a social hour with musical entertainment was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Taylor.

Domestic Infidelity Alleged.

Samuel Edwards, colored, and his wife Mary, residents of Ricketts' court, were defendants in the Police Court today, each charged with misconduct, and Judge Bundy, after hearing the facts, decided that Sam should pay a fine of $10 or be deprived of his liberty for one month. The woman was discharged.

The policeman gave evidence to the effect that the couple had some trouble at their home yesterday and that Sam announced his intention, in the presence of the woman, to leave her. The woman and his wife admitted that there had been a slight family row, but denied that there was a threat made to use an iron.

AT "YE ANTIEN INN."

Old Customs That Are Still Observed at Famous Taverns in London.

From the London Mail.

The spirit of change which has hovered over London the past few years, destroying the old and setting up the new, has left untouched a few old customs that serve to remind the interested of days when giants lived in London. At several inns in the neighborhood of Fleet street and the Strand no amount of money could purchase the recipe of the "cheese" pudding. Mr. Chas. Moore, the present holder of the secret, has been often tempted, but in vain. The hand of the proprietor himself compounds the ingredients—beefsteaks, kidneys, oysters, larks and mushrooms. There are various spices and gravies known only to himself. The boiling process takes about sixteen to twenty hours.

But it is not in the making or eating of the pudding that the old customs are observed. It is in the manner of the pudding that the old customs are observed. It is in the manner of the pudding that the old customs are observed. It is in the manner of the pudding that the old customs are observed.
